ADMINISTRATION UPHOLDS HIGH STANDARDS

Supervising Mt. Lebanon's nine schools, Dr. Ralph Horsman, Superintendent, acts as a liaison between the school system and the school board.

Through a combination of effort and leadership, the administration maintains Mount Lebanon High School's high educational standards. These administrators create an atmosphere conducive to excellence by offering skilled guidance to students and faculty, by planning a comprehensive curriculum, and by coordinating school functions. Their devotion in fulfilling their offices has developed an outstanding record of educational achievement for the Mt. Lebanon school system.

As Director of Instruction for the Mt. Lebanon schools, Dr. Floy Penn has the responsibility of co-ordinating the curriculum and directing the testing program.

Dr. Joseph Keifer, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, carried out the duties of his office by working with other members of the administration in the management and supervision of Mt. Lebanon Schools.

An open door symbolizes the Administration's willingness to help students with their problems.

The duties of the vice-principal, Mr. Ralph W. McDermot, include the preparing of students' schedules and college transcripts, the maintenance of discipline, and the calculation of class rank.

By directing the administrative activities of the school, Dr. Nelson Mills aids each student in his educational development.

As Administrative Assistant, Mrs. Geraldine H. Morgan supervises the attendance procedures and helps to maintain student discipline.

Mrs. Ferne Horne, director of the guidance department, works with the sophomore counselors, Mrs. Irene Hough and Mr. Edward Bosh, and the junior counselors, Mr. Samuel Christopher and Miss Janet Hallock, advising students concerning schedules, colleges, and careers.

The activities directors, Miss Grove and Miss Carroll, plan and direct a varied extracurricular program.

The school board directs the schools and develops new programs for education in Mt. Lebanon. Members this year are: ROW 1: Mrs. June Cameron; Mr. Willis Siegfried; Mr. James Orr, President; Miss Miriam Headley, Secretary; Mrs. Virginia B. Sherman. ROW 2: Mr. Robert F. Dyson; Mr. Robert E. Lauderbach; Mr. Robert J. Simonds; Mr. Donald C. Bush, Solicitor; Mr. William Miller; and Mr. Lewis M. Stark.

SUPERVISORS DIRECT THE SCHOOL YEAR

The school secretaries, Mrs. Florence Taylor, Mrs. Margaret Steffens, Mrs. Jane Booth, Mrs. Delores Vroble, Miss Lynette Gerhold, Mrs. Helen Irwin and Miss Ruth Wass, manage the clerical aspects of administrative work.

The home-school visitor, Miss Ruth Gordon; the school psychologist, Mr. D. Moore; and the speech therapist, Miss Marjorie Scanlon, bring their special services to individual situations.

Student health problems receive attention from the school nurses, Miss Fern L. High and Miss Patricia Croke.

N.F.L. Debate and Speech

The English department stimulates communication and creativity through the study of fine literature and writing skills. A thorough understanding of the structure of his language enables the student to better express his ideas in writing a critical analysis of The Bridge of San Luis Rey. Discussing the imagery in Hamlet or the symbolism in Paradise Lost provokes thought, while listening to a recording of a Sandburg poem or seeing an educational film on Julius Caesar affords opportunities to broaden our cultural outlook. The comprehensive background enables us not only to communicate clearly, but to develop vital ideas worth expressing.

To achieve command of a foreign language requires constant effort. First, the basics must be mastered. Scansion of Latin poetry and drills in pronunciation in the language laboratory impress language patterns on our minds. Verbal proficiency results from songs, skits, dialogues, and oral reports. Once achieved, command of a language unlocks insights into national history and folklore found in such works as The Aeneid, Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme, Don Quixote, and Germelshausen. The ability to comprehend another language, written and spoken, leads to a broadening of our cultural understanding.

SOCIAL STUDIES INSTILLS INSIGHT

As one event leads to another and new ideas grow out of reaction to the old, the past is vital to the present. The social studies department strives to correlate the past with the trends of today. It presents a study in depth of our civilization which enables us to appreciate achievement in the arts, to understand the basic workings of our government and economic system, and to perceive the forces and direction of change in our society.

Both fine and practical arts form an integral part of our education. The endless drive to increase typing and shorthand pace produces a competent secretary. Practical experience also develops artistic dexterity. The singing of scales, hours of violin practice, the execution of a silver bowl, and sketches illustrating perspective give the student a deeper knowledge of the nature of art as well as mastery of technique. The proper technique plus concentrated practice produce proficiency and skill.

GROUPS MAINTAIN PLEASANT ATMOSPHERE

The custodians and the cafeteria workers facilitate education by making the school a congenial place for the students. The cafeteria workers relieve our noon hunger pangs by preparing a complete menu from soups to desserts. The building remains clean through the maintenance of the custodians. The pleasant physical atmosphere which these people maintain provides the necessary setting for an effective education.

In charge of preparing our food are: ROW 1: M. Burkleca, E. Dalzuffo, R. Kovach, M. Rotella, M. Olah. ROW 2: H. Flint, E. Patsy, R. Rogers, J. Kirstein, F. Gastgeb, I. Smith, E. Brown, E. Hadley, M. Wilcheck, H. McCue. ROW 3: L. Cheswick, M. Skinkis, M. Riley.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT DEVELOPS LEADERSHIP

Student Court meets Tuesday afternoons to consider the out-of-orders issued during the preceding week.

Student government and advisory bodies at Mt. Lebanon High School translate the ideal of student leadership into actual responsibility. Through the Advisory Council, representative students and teachers air their opinions on questions affecting school life. As the forum of student ideas, Student Congress sponsors projects to raise money for activities and to aid students throughout the school and the district. Student Court, in making judgments concerning discipline, considers both sides of the problem and strives for impartial decisions. The Senior Council organizes the school functions centered around the graduating class and arranges plans for Senior Day. The effectiveness of student government results from the cooperation and interest of Mt. Lebanon's students and teachers.

Administration, faculty, and students on the Advisory Council meet to share opinions on current school affairs. SEATED: Mrs. Rinne, Mrs. Morgan, and Mrs. Adamson. STANDING: Nancy Kirkley, Sue Hamilton, Mr. Gaertner, Dr. Mills, Scott Henderson, Dave Chilcoat and Jane Tumpson.

Margaret Schilberg and Tom Barnes survey decisions on out-of-orders.

Seniors on the Student Court, Margaret Schilberg, Tom Barnes, Jane Van Dusen, and Greg Fuss discuss efficient court procedure.

The Student Directory Committee facilitates school telephoning. Members are: seated, Bill Gillilan and Les Hough and standing Frank Carney and Al Whitehouse.

The Senior Council, composed of second semester homeroom representatives, plans pre-graduation events. ROW 1: D. Reebel, D. Meyer, D. Lewis, P. Fitch, G. Fleming, D. Deeter. ROW 2: L. Cox, O. Tyus, P. Weaver, R. Heard, D. Lemster, T. Werlinich. ROW 3: F. Black, S. Henderson, B. Stevens, S. Pidgeon, H. Samrick, M. Becker.

SPECIAL HONORS RECOGNIZE ACHIEVEMENT

Thespian president John Detwiler discusses plans for production of The Crucible with Mr. Myers.

Faculty and students selected Linda Read as winner of the D.A.R. Award.

By meeting high scholastic standards, students attained noteworthy honors. Over thirty students demonstrated their adeptness in all academic areas to become National Merit Finalists. Individual awards, such as the Bausch-Lomb Award for scientific aptitude and the Daughters of the American Revolution Award for exemplary character, cited personal achievement. Placing in a national competition or receiving a special award reveals not only ability, but determination and initiative.

Bob Wolf was chosen for the Bausch-Lomb award.

Meeting the scholastic requirements of the Cum Laude Society were: ROW 1: Janice Lindvall, Mary Weil, Libby Morris, Kristi Uddstrom, Connie Hill, Ginny Granke, Margaret Schilberg, Cheryl Will, Kathy Verner, Sue Griffith, Nancy Parker, Donna Klein. ROW 2: Terry Peake, Jane Van Dusen, Sue Hindmarsh, JoAnne Pfeffer,

STUDENTS RECEIVE ACTIVITIES HONORS

Recipients of Activities Keys at the end of the Spring semester 1963 were:
ROW 1: Donna Klein, Charles Huettner. ROW 2: Nancy Kirkley, Sally
Fields. ROW 3: Sue Kurtz, Linda
Read, Marsha Walker. ROW 4: Linda
Ruck, Bill McMillan, Mike Young.
ROW 5: Lou Cox, Les Hough, Andy
Sharkey, and John Detwiler.

Accompanying chorus and orchestra were only two of the many activities which earned Margaret Schilberg an activities guard at the end of her Junior year.

Amassing the one hundred points necessary to earn an activities key involves participation in a variety of school functions. The recipients of an activities guard demonstrate additional interest in extra-curricular activities by earning an extra eighty points. From band and varsity football to attendance squad and Student Congress, Mt. Lebanon's program of activities instills maturity and responsibility in those students who enjoy after-school participation.

Homeroom presidents, through Student Congress, help regulate school activities.

Those who received Activities keys at the end of the Fall semester 1963 included: ROW 1: L. Auner, P. Bayers, J. Kerr, J. Lindvall, R. Housekeeper, M. Weil, S. Moreland, J. Ketterer, S. Beachler. ROW 2: T. Jones, C. Wolfe, J. Wilson, E. Wittlin, B. Goodwin, C. Myers, L. Morris, B. Booth, B. Mollerus, K. Uddstrom. ROW 3: R. Steffey, S. Henderson, B. Hartsough, C. Kenrick, B. Nuernberg, B. Wolfe, P. Kavasch, T. Peake, T. Alexander, L. Schellsmith, R. Tyus. ROW 4: J. Snyder, C. Haight, and P. Weaver.

As recognition of outstanding participation in activities, John Detwiler, Mike Young, and Marsha Walker received activities guards.

N.F.L. DEVELOPS POISE AND LOGIC

Discussing socialized medicine, giving an impromptu speech on the position of the United States in South Viet Nam, or presenting an original humorous essay offered interesting challenges and valuable experiences to members of the National Forensic League. Students have the opportunity to participate in many different departments of N.F.L.—debate, extemporaneous speaking, drama, and humorous declamation. On Saturdays, Mt. Lebanon N.F.L. members take part in inter-scholastic speech and debate tournaments at area high schools. This speaking experience helps members to achieve clarity of expression and self-confidence.

Junior National Forensic League members, Karen Hudson, Beth Carney, Phil Wolford, and Jim Wurzbach, discuss medical care for the aged as a debate topic.

Senior debaters include Sue Moreland, Julie Ketterer, Pete Fitzgerald, Bill Lankford, and Bob Wolf.

Bob Rosen, Paul Zabetakis, and Bob Gordon discuss material for a debate as Mike Kerr, Amy Peal, Dave Feigenbaum, and Cherie Rusbridge listen.

NATIONAL SOCIETIES AFFORD RECOGNITION

Members of the National Thespian Society, Julie Ketterer, Dave Dyson, and John Detwiler, read a script they are considering for a production.

Modern Music Masters officers Roger Goodman, Tom Jones, Russel Rahn, and Anne Burt experiment with harmony.

Recognized for their literary achievement were Marsha Walker, Scott Henderson, and Donna Klein, members of the Quill and Scroll Society.

Backstage at curtain time, Thespians lower house lights and notify players in dressing rooms of entrances.

Mount Lebanon's chapters of three national societies provide recognition for students who excel in music, the dramatic arts, and journalism. Qualifying for membership in Modern Music Masters enables students to pursue their interest in the field of music. Students proficient in another of the performing arts, dramatics, achieve notice through membership in Thespians, where they receive recognition for their participation in all facets of dramatic production. The editors of Mount Lebanon High School's publications qualify for Quill and Scroll membership. The students in these national societies manifest talent and interest, the keys to membership.

LANTERN ILLUMINATES SCHOOL EVENTS

Mt. Lebanon students find complete and concise stories of the various school events in the Lantern. Lantern features include a summary of the basketball season, an interview with an A.F.S. student, and an account of the Sadie Hawkins Dance. The staff handles writing, organization, and distribution of the monthly newspaper. In addition, Lantern staff members write, type, print, and assemble the human interest features of the Devillette. The commercially printed Scholastic Roto completes the reading package from the Lantern. Collecting pertinent and interesting news for presentation to the student body is the constant challenge before the Lantern staff.

Romaine Puglese, Marlene Speigal, and Marianne Casey, Circulation and Business Editors, supervise sales, finance, and distribution of the Lantern.

Editor-in-chief, Marsha Walker, with the members of her editorial staff, Carol Radasky, Nancy Nesbit, Mary Shumaker, Ellen O'Sullivan, Molly Small, Denny Stull, Bob Covert, Doug Fellows, Jeff Jubelirer, and Ed Reger, study past copies of the Lantern.

Devilette editors, Diane Hardman and Margie Harris, evaluate results of an opinion survey.

Jay Snyder, photographer for the Lebanon Lantern, studies some of the results of his work.

YEARBOOK FOCUSES ON STUDENT LIFE

Log editors Janice Lindvall, Patty Bayers, Bill Nuernberg, Marjorie Westerman, and Lou Cox, along with editor-in-chief Donna Klein, consult the sponsor, Miss Jacqueline Hughes.

The clack of typewriter keys and a discordant chorus of voices and laughter resound in the Log office every day after school as the Log staff works on the yearbook. Amid candy wrappers and noise, editors supervise the editorial assistants and staffs in varied tasks from sizing pictures and writing copy to alphabetizing the seniors' names and scheduling activities pictures. These complex efforts, including the sales campaign and the organization of circulation, require careful planning and diligent application. Despite the press of deadlines, the staff maintains the hard work necessitated by a demand for excellence.

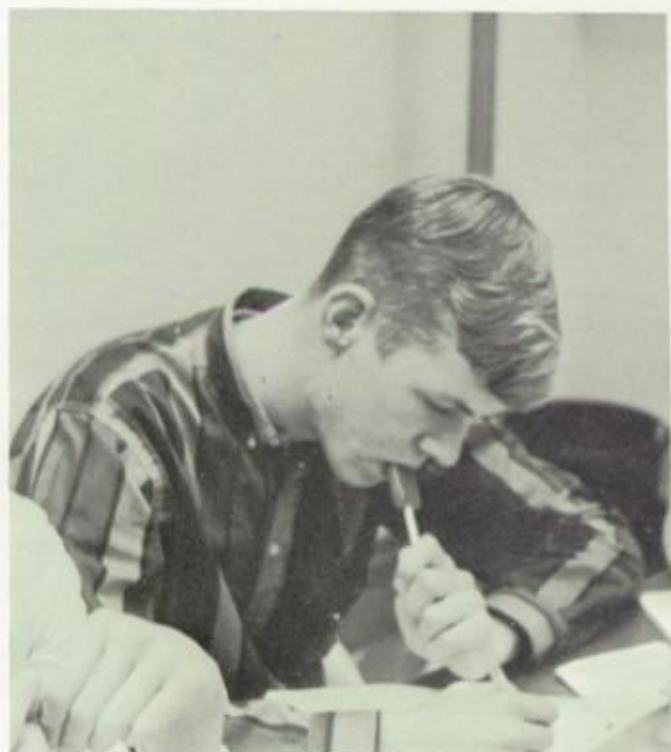

John Robb, Ober Tyus, Mark Weinberg, and Teddy Conomos, manage the sales, promotion, and distribution of the Log.

Mark Hurst, Sue Keener, Paul Zabetakis, JoAnn Whiteman, Nancy Bayers, and Sally Sherwood assist the editors in anticipation of their future editorship.

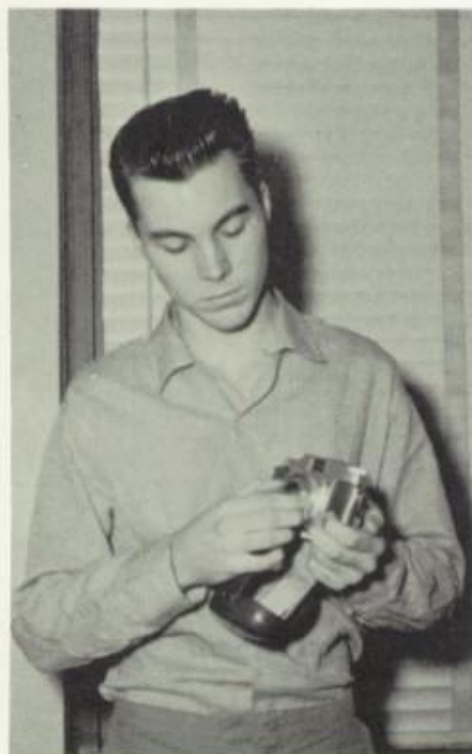

Betty Bixler, Nancy Flint, Kathie Krill, Sally Fields, and Betsy Booth, Log classes staff members, arrange and prepare home-room and senior pictures that will appear in the Log.

In the hubub of the Log office, an artist concentrates on a design for the yearbook cover.

LOG PICTURES STUDENTS AND FACULTY

The Literary Staff puts twelve years of English to use to create Log write-ups and heads. Members are Libby Morris, Sue Griffith, Dick Harris, and Jane Van Dusen.

Karen Brunt, Nancy Tamplin, Bobbi Goodwin, and Ellen Gagne, Activities Staff members, notify students of Log picture times.

The Business Staff checks Log receipts against money received and records results of yearbook sales. Members are Linda Ruck, Sara Dwyer, and Carol Myers.

MOUNTY PUBLISHES STUDENT WRITING

Editors Libby Morris, Dick Harris, and Kathy Verner organize, revise, and edit every issue of the Mounty.

Mounty artists, Tara Alexander, Ed Reger, Chuck Culbertson, and Bill Bell design posters and illustrate the literary magazine.

Donna Shoemaker, Earleen Shord, Suzanne Stewart, Wendy Saul, and Janet Wood, type the poems, stories, and essays that appear in each Mounty.

Paula Kavasch, as Mounty business manager, organizes the sales campaign, and distributes the magazines.

From humorous poetry to critical essays, the Mounty publishes student writing. This year's magazine included a new section, "Mounty International," consisting of short articles written in foreign languages. From the fall sales campaign to the final distribution of the senior issue in May, the Mounty staff worked to produce five stimulating issues of Mt. Lebanon High's literary magazine. The efforts of writers, typists, artists, business managers, and editors resulted in another year of achievement for the Mounty.

ORCHESTRA AUGMENTS MUSIC APPRECIATION

Through the climactic tension of Berlioz's "Marche Hongroise" and the delicate counterpoint of Bach's "Chorale and Invention," the orchestra conveys a symphonic harmony to the listening audience. For the enjoyment of students and faculty, Mr. Yagello and the forty-five members of the organization present an annual assembly concert and frequently perform for the school plays. The combination of strings, woodwinds, brass, and percussion combines the musical talents and cooperative abilities of many young musicians.

Members of the 1963-1964 Orchestra include: ROW 1: M. Nelson, J. Wilson, K. Guess, M. Harris, A. Burt, S. Shuttleworth, S. Sherwood, P. Llewellyn, S. Zabban. ROW 2: V. Kulik, H. Sparks, J. Eisenbeis, J. Spiegel, J. Amdur, D. Feigenbaum, S. Leam, C. Wolfe, B. Hyzer, M. Meis, L. Albertson.

ROW 3: L. Rosenberg, D. Rodenbaugh, B. Spooner, T. Jones, R. Rahn, J. Martin, R. Lunardini, K. Gunther, M. Sutton, J. Leonard, E. Edwards, L. Lewis, M. Crump. ROW 4: M. Weil, D. Hammer, M. Schilberg, R. Goodman, T. Auer, D. Klein, Mr. Yagello, T. Phillips, R. Wolfe, S. Wyatt, M. Adams.

French horn and timpani provide the contrast to highlight the melody of the flutes and clarinets.

The brass section of the orchestra provides the mellow tones of a selection in the all-school concert.

Mr. Yagello, as orchestra conductor, brings the varied instrumental tones into musical harmony.

The fragile quality of bells and the bass pitch of the tuba blend in the production of harmony.

CHORAL GROUPS PRODUCE HARMONY

"Cantate Domino," "Pick-a-Little Talk," and "Dark-Eyed Sailor," constitute only a fraction of the varied lyric works which Mt. Lebanon's choral groups perform during the year. The four singing groups, Mixed Chorus, Girls' Ensemble, Girls' Glee Club and Triple Trio, satisfy a wide variety of musical interests and talents. Singing with a chorus helps to make music an integral and vital part of a student's life.

Members of the Triple Trio were: kneeling: Sue Challinor, Jean McMillan, Ann Walker. Standing: Margie Heid, Holly Zinsmaster, Pam Gianni, Eve Odenkirchen, Marcy Wertz, Mary Weil, Joanne Pfeffer, Connie Bailey, Patti Matis.

This year's mixed chorus included: ROW 1: M. Heid, P. Gianni, M. Larkin, R. Ott, J. Lancour, T. Conomos, E. Morgan, M. Pierce, P. Matis. ROW 2: S. Ton, H. Spooner, L. Schellsmith, A. Walker, S. Challinor, C. Bailey, H. Zinsmaster, S. Moore, M. Wicken. ROW 3: S. Cunningham, J. Pfeffer, C. Mayberry, E. Odenkirchen, M. Wertz, M. Schade, K. Brunt, L. McIntosh, J. McMillan. ROW 4: P. McKeithan, B. Appel, M. Mamula, S. Johnke, M. Weil, J. Richmand, B. Sollenberger, B. Hissom, R. Goessler. ROW 5: B. Dishong, B. Blansett, L. Knowles, R. Woodhouse, R. Harding, B. Bern, R. Lore. ROW 6: T. Hauser, S. Wolverton, R. Goodman, J. Hirsh, D. Disque, B. Rosen, E. Reger. Accompanist: Mary Weil. Senior Music Manager: Carol Mayberry.

BAND ENCOURAGES MUSICAL SKILL

Under the direction of Mr. Philip Prutzman, the Mt. Lebanon High School Band displays its musical and organizational prowess. During the football season, the band marches across the field in numerous blue-and-gold demonstrations. Frequently led by student or guest conductors, the band presents at least one evening concert annually. From the classical 1812 Overture to Sousa's marches, the band effectively blends the tones of percussion, woodwinds, and brass.

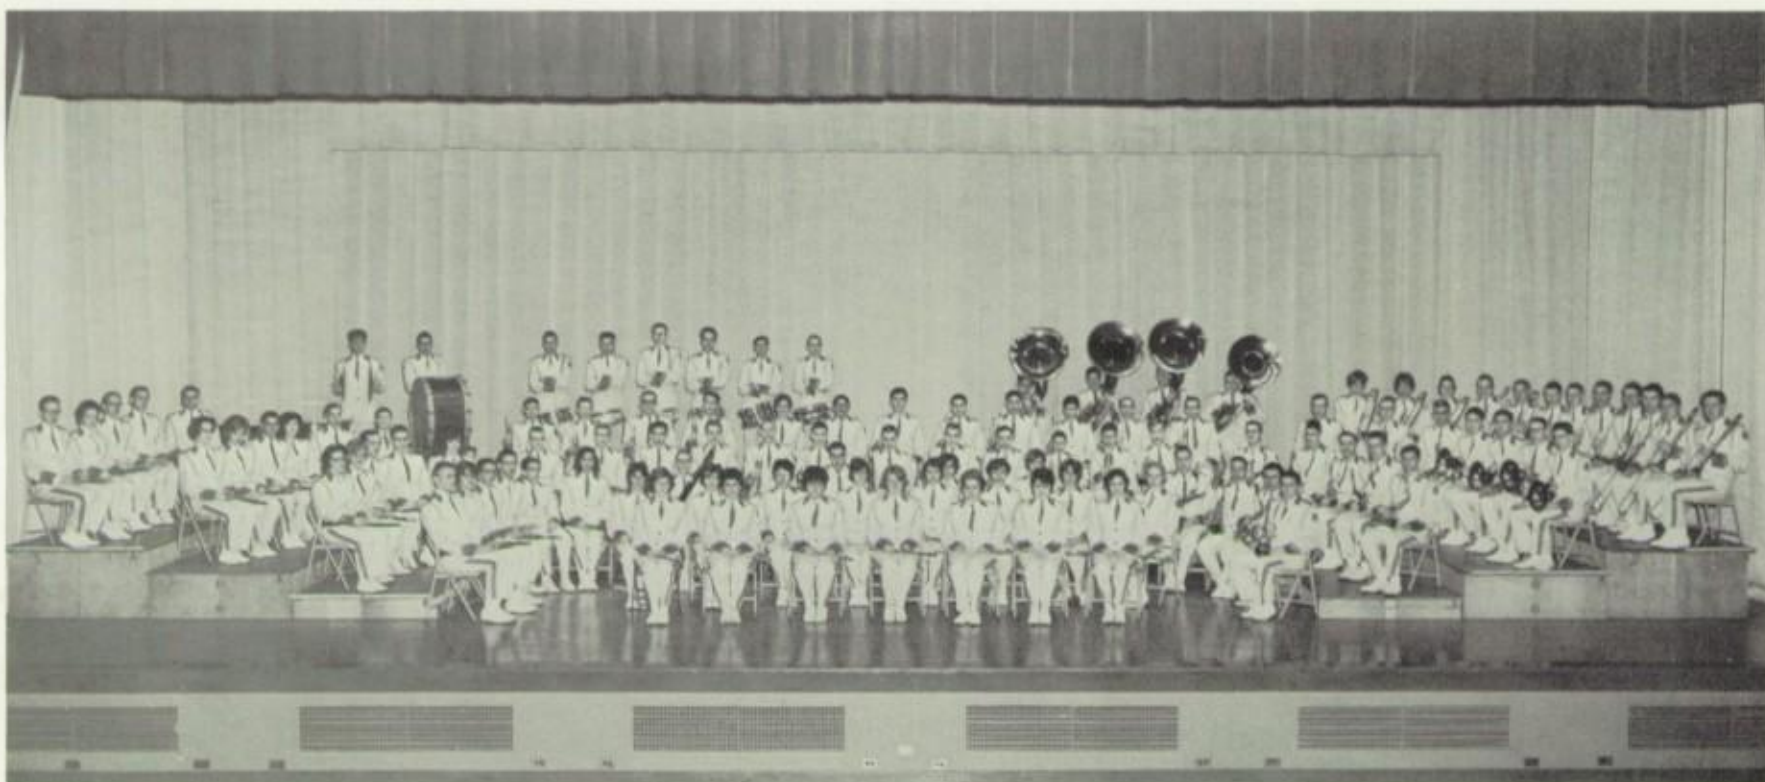

Band and Majorettes add flourish to the "Alma Mater."

Band managers Sue Schneider, Barb Singer, Donley Hogg and Mike Wholehan sort music and assist Mr. Prutzman in band organization.

Band members anticipate the step turn before leaving the field.

Members of the 1963-1964 Concert Band are: ROW 1: M. Coho, M. Steffens, S. Latchaw, G. Schwartz, N. Yeungling, B. Goodwin, C. Oeschlager. ROW 2: N. Miller, V. Murphey, C. Schnure, M. Morris, S. Witt, N. Campbell, J. Britton, W. Teach. ROW 3: L. Cox, M. Walker, P. Jackson, M. Crosby, K. Joseph, E. Vietorisz, B. Bruckart, B. Stern, S. Weber, L. Black, B. Baker, F. Wesley, R. Hall, C. Haight. ROW 4: L. Lupean, S. Fields, M. Young, J. Beck, K. Leonard, D. Lather, J. Guehl, B. Keisling, K. Hastings, E. Larson, J. Thompson, B. Moreland, M. Mateer, S. Lynn, L. Klein, J. Baughman, J. Gaynor, J. Hewitt, M. Weinberg, W. Fox, T. Jackson, D. Holben. ROW 5: S.

Mehaffey, J. Davis, E. Myers, M. Meyer, C. Satterfield, D. Harmon, D. Gianfagna, J. Gooding, J. Snyder, D. Albert, N. Morris, M. Resnick, D. Kirkley, R. Frisch, D. Slep, E. Singer, H. Douds, D. Strom, D. Montgomery, T. Boak, B. Nuernberg, J. Orr, D. Sanstead, R. Segal, J. Walker. ROW 6: D. March, S. Haight, B. Fair, K. Greber, C. Markgraf, C. Fischer, B. Bragdon, G. Gail, A. Whitman, G. Hussey, R. Law, C. Mandell, M. Worley, J. Hammerschlag, G. Hinchcliffe, S. Davies, B. Hall, K. McAfee, M. Emmons, S. Lenhart, M. Waltz, G. Berwanger, H. Hoover, D. McGarry, M. Wood, T. Goulding, G. Ireys, T. Goodwin, and P. Hartmann.

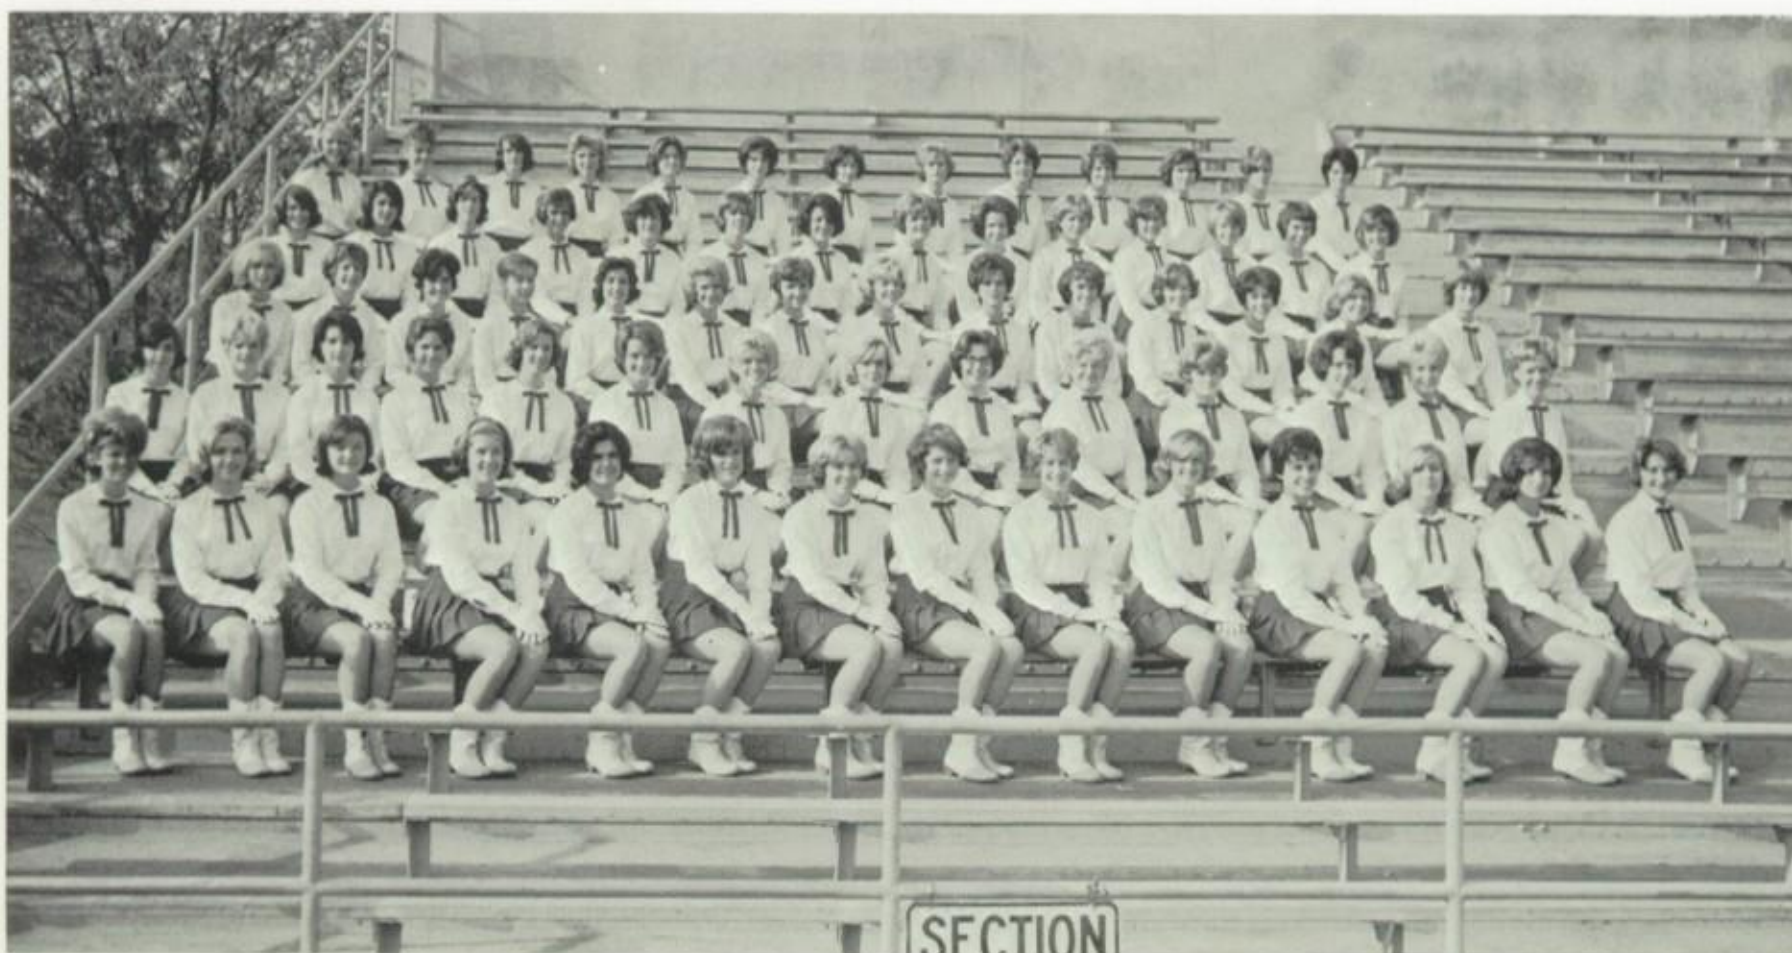

New band uniforms enhance Mt. Lebanon's half-time marching.

The Band and Rockettes constitute an enthusiastic cheering section.

Performing in the half-time shows were the Majorettes, Sara Dwyer, Nancy Miller, Ginny Sandberg, Brenda Hutchinson, and Barb Watt.

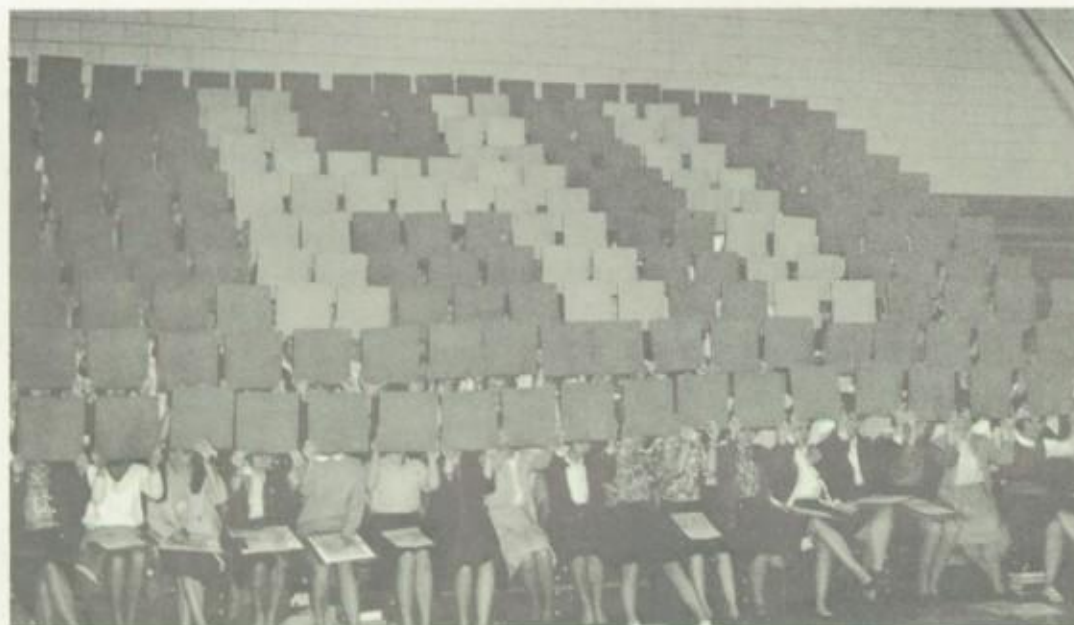

Rockettes march off the field after a senior show.

ACTIVITIES BOLSTER SCHOOL SPIRIT

The Pep Club's familiar "GO" adds to school spirit.

The Pep Club welcomes visitors at football games.

Participation in the squads and committees at Mt. Lebanon High encourages students to develop individual qualities while working with others. Thursday afternoon practices enable the Pep Squad to add to the spirit at football games, whether flashing "HI" or cheering for a touchdown. Throughout the year, this squad along with other groups contributes enthusiasm to extra-curricular events.

SENIORS STAGE THE UNEXPECTED GUEST

Mike Young, as Jan, reflects upon the mysterious events that have surrounded the household.

Laura Warwick approves Starkwedder's ingenious method of outwitting the authorities.

Inspector Thomas and Sargeant Cadwallader attempt to supply clues to the murder.

Letty Schellsmith uses the moments before her entrance to review lines.

Vicki Brick, as Bennie, calmly attempts to soothe Jan's anger.

The fog thickens, and the lights dim. Greg Fuss, as Michael Starkwedder, tells Lettie Schellsmith, as Laura Warwick, that he has murdered her husband, and the curtain falls on The Unexpected Guest by Agatha Christie. The guidance of Mr. Myers and Julie Ketterer, the student director, helped cast members Vicki Brick, Connie Hill, Les Hough, Tom Jones, Bill McMillan, Jay Synder, Ober Tyus, and Michael Young to create their character roles and to realize their acting potential. Assisted by Diana Lewis and her script committee, the cast members combined in a team effort to produce an enjoyable play.

Connie Hill, as Mrs. Warwick, helps solve the perplexing mystery that has evolved around the murder.

Bill McMillan and Les Hough, as detectives, interrogate members of the household.

Laura unwillingly consents to explain to Jay Snyder, as Julian, the events surrounding the tragic death of her husband.

DRAMA PROVIDES CREATIVE EXPERIENCE

From the rollicking humor of A Thurber Carnival to the thought-provoking satire of Don Juan in Hell, A Reader's Theatre provided a rewarding evening of entertainment. The ascoted actors and velvet-skirted actresses of the Thespian Society's Backstage Players demonstrated their professional versatility by playing several different parts. But, extra-curricular theater provided only one outlet for dramatic interest. The students taking dramatics culminated their semester of study by presenting a repertoire of one-act plays for the student body, including The Old Lady Shows Her Medals and Women Must Work.

The Thurber Carnival comes alive under the skillful acting of Connie Hill, Julie Ketterer, and Dave Dyson.

Lettie Schellsmith concentrates on her interpretation of Wild Grapes.

Tim Auer adds rhythm to a hilarious production of Three Fables.

An empty stool frames Thespians engrossed in their reading of Edna St. Vincent Millay's Aria de Capo.

Dramatics classes complement their studies in self-expression.

Members of the dramatic workshop use costumes and props to create a theatrical atmosphere in the classroom.

Debbie Donahoe, playing Mrs. Dowey, totes a charwoman's mop and pail in the dramatic workshop's presentation of The Old Lady Shows Her Medals.

Bill Kerr and Bill Ramsey prepare the props that were used to produce fog for The Unexpected Guest.

Marcia Kenney, John Seymour, Frank Carney, Sally Fields and Penny Shumaker, members of the Properties Committee, listen as Joann Fisherkeller reads a list of props necessary for The Unexpected Guest.

Tom Hearn, John Detwiler, Charles Huettnier, Russell Rahn, and Russell Steffey, members of the Stage Crew, take time out from their duties to catch a glimpse of a performance.

Marian Hoag, Sue Hindmarsh, and Terry Ann Peake, members of the Make-up Squad, begin to prepare Lettie Schellsmith for her lead role in the Senior play.

COMMITTEES CREATE DRAMATIC ATMOSPHERE

Such programs as the Vanguard Theater, a lecture on the origin of language, or The Unexpected Guest require much backstage preparation by the various auditorium crews. The stage and lighting crews prepare for all programs, while the costume, make-up, and scenery painting squads work especially on dramatic performances. These groups help make the auditorium a vital part of high school life.

Tom Hearn, John Detwiler, Libby Morris, and Charles Huettnner, members of the Lighting Crew, arrange the lighting for the opening scene of the Senior play.

Tera Alexander, chairman of the Scenery Squad, repaints scenery in preparation for the Senior play.

Lynn Auner, Beth Vincent, Libby Morris, and Carol Wolfe, members of the Costume Committee, select and fit costuming to be used in the school plays.

ACTIVITIES EXPRESS VARIED INTERESTS

The Cafeteria Dispatchers contribute to the efficient management of cafeteria traffic by calling classes to lunch. Members were: Linda Dailey, Karen Deemer, Diana Deck, Patty Easton, and Sue Gallagher.

Mt. Lebanon High School's extracurricular activities provide varied outlets for student interests. Those who enjoy speaking Spanish devote two evenings a month to a meeting of the Spanish Club. Chess enthusiasts ponder new ways to checkmate in tournaments sponsored by the Chess Club. Other students spend their fourth periods as Cafeteria Dispatchers calling classes to lunch, while in the lunch room itself the Cafeteria Squad members keep the lunch lines running smoothly. Student secretaries forego their study-halls to type, file, and correct papers for teachers. Whatever a student's avocation, the activities program is almost sure to offer some activity to develop it.

Don Sloane "checks" David Lenz as Chess Club members Sam Horowitz and Bill Stark watch the match.

Cafeteria Squad members Mark McCloskey, Dave Foley, and Bob Swailes direct traffic into the dishroom.

Ways and Means chairmen, Sue Ritenour, Joyce Campbell, and Bill Hartsough, count and record funds earned for student activities.

Libby Morris, as teacher's secretary, types stencils for papers to be distributed in class.

Ways and Means Squad member Joyce Campbell prepares to sell candy after school.

Spanish Club officers, Vicki Craig, Sally Sherwood, Jan Scheick, and Carmen Perez, arrange meetings that will help members understand the cultures of the Spanish-speaking countries.

GUIDANCE COUNCILS STIMULATE DISCUSSION

On Thursday mornings homerooms discuss topics ranging from desirable personality traits to the consequences of cheating. The Tenth, Eleventh, and Twelfth Grade Guidance Councils, who write the programs, present their ideas through skits, stories, and questions calculated to stimulate thought. These programs provide guidance on problems that concern the individual as a student and as a teenager.

Serving as members of the Twelfth Grade Guidance Council were: seated, Linda Steining, Jane Falk, Mary Kern, Linda Shakarian; standing, Mollie Small, Ken Matticks, and Jay Rock.

Cathy Campbell, Cherie Rusbridge, Reed Pyeritz, Katy Montgomery, Hank Miller, and Sandi Clinton are members of the Junior Guidance Council.

The Tenth Grade Guidance Council consists of Eileen Neely, Tim Houser, Marianna Read, David Herrington, Jean Coblentz, and Sue Jenkins.

STUDENTS PERFORM ESSENTIAL SERVICES

The task of preparing more than six hundred robes for commencement falls to Dave Charnell, Tom Kennedy, Jane Bourne, Jan Colin, Betty Bixler, and Steve Pidgeon, members of the Cap and Gown Squad.

Senior members of the Cap and Gown squad, Tom Kennedy and Betty Bixler, try on robes and mortarboards in anticipation of graduation.

Participants in activities contribute to the efficient functioning of school services. The Cap and Gown Squad distributes graduation apparel. The Library Squad assists in the complicated operation of arranging and classifying books in the library, while the Honor Award Committee records activities points which students earn through extracurricular participation. The services rendered by squads and committees enable the school to extend a greater number of opportunities to the student body.

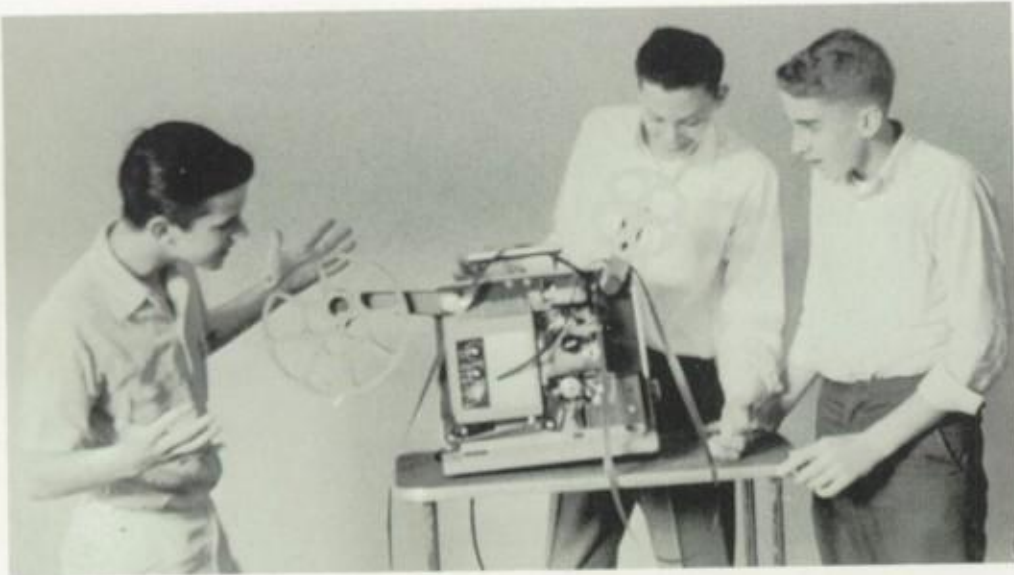

Beth Mollerus and Sandi Caughie, members of the Honor Award Committee, record activities points while Sally Fields and Nancy Tamplin transfer them to individual records.

Ann Pierce, Madeleine Ashcraft, Barb Koynok, Linda Clatty, and Vicki Strod, members of the Library Squad, prepare new books for students and arrange them in proper order on the shelves.

SQUADS CONTRIBUTE TO SCHOOL LIFE

Projection Squad members Larry Knowles, Mike Maddex, and Bruce Criswell use their technical knowledge to broaden education through films.

After receiving the approval of a member of the faculty, students submit announcements to the studio.

The Public Address Squad insures the proper functioning of the studio equipment. Members were: Gary Gerhold, Van Davis, and Jon McGrew.

Mike Young and Larry Giles, student directors of the studio, supervise organization of the morning announcement program.

Students, the school, and the public benefit from the service of student activities. Members of the Parking Lot Squad assist in traffic direction at football games, while the Scoreboard Squad records the progress of the games. The Ways and Means Squad sells candy after school, and refreshments at football and basketball games. Projection Squad members run the films that enrich many school courses. The morning announcements are the combined efforts of many squads—the Public Address Squad, the Studio Announcers, and the Sports Announcers. Participation in these activities develops leadership in the individual by creating an awareness of his responsibility to serve.

Taking tickets at athletic events is one duty of Athletic Ushers Charles Huettner and Fred Teach.

Members of the Scoreboard Squad, Gary Gerhold, Bruce Melrose, and Bill Kerr, tally points at football and basketball games.

Parking Lot Squad members Dave Thompson, Doug Bloomer, Bill Egan, and Ken Harbert direct the filling of the parking lot at school functions.

From the pressbox, Sports Announcers Bill McMillan and John Detwiler inform spectators of happenings in athletic events.

Mount Lebanon's many squads enable students with widely diverse interests to participate in various activities which benefit the school. Students with creative abilities brighten the halls and lobbies with displays of original art work, colorful, interesting bulletin boards and imaginative exhibits in the display cases. The Decorating Committee devotes many hours of hard work to adorning the gym for school dances. Efficient collection of student attendance cards and distribution of absentee list provides the Attendance Squad with a vital function that must be performed daily. Those students on Medical Squad competently minister to the needs of the student body with band-aids, thermometers, and merthiolate. The Opening Exercises Squad carefully plans and presents the Thursday morning inspirational programs. Through such activities students contribute significantly to the school while developing individual interests.

A student pauses to inspect books arranged by the Display Case Squad.

The duties of the Decorating Squad require planning as well as hanging crepe paper and balloons. Members are Greg Fuss, Betsy Booth, and Jack Hoeft.

The Bulletin Board Squad displays athletics photos, news events, and activities agenda in the hall. Members are Mary Jo Day, Karen Schnippert, Letty Schellsmith, and Terry Anne Peake.

Art Squad members Chuck Culbertson, Sherry Andrews, and Cathy Campbell arrange displays of students' artwork in the auditorium lobby.

STUDENTS VOLUNTEER TALENTS

Sue Wetmore, Gail Schwartz, Bill McMillan, Dick Harris, and Jane Falk, members of the Opening Exercises Squad, review a Thursday morning program.

Judy Kerr and Maggie Moorhead, members of the Attendance Squad, check the homeroom absentee list with the absentee cards from the teachers.

Members of the Medical Squad, Jan Andrews, Carolyn Griffith, Susan Mullins, and Marcia Fowler assist the school nurses by keeping medical files and taking temperatures.

Janice Renton, Chris Emery, and Cindy Hastings, members of the Display Case Squad, arrange student artwork in the first floor hall.

CLUBS PROVIDE CAREER GUIDANCE

Many Mt. Lebanon students learn about their future professions through membership in the Future Teachers of America, the Future Nurses of America, and the Future Homemakers of America. Under the comprehensive programs of these organizations, students teach elementary school, visit hospitals, or learn the skills of efficient homemaking. The varied experiences available through these clubs guide members in the selection of their professions.

The officers of the Future Homemakers of America, Lynn Oberdacker, Jan Scheick, Gretchen Pieger, and Sue McNeely, plan programs that illustrate the many aspects of homemaking.

Future Nurses of America officers, Pam Abromovitz, Bethel Hissom, Sue Shuttleworth, and Mimi McMillan gain practical experience to prepare them for careers in nursing.

The fundamentals of good teaching are stressed as Nancy Olzewski, Barbara Ramsey, Elaine Wittlin, and Carol Meyers, officers of the Future Teachers of America, prepare for careers in education.

F.T.A. member Karen Brunt explains fundamentals to elementary pupils.

ACTIVITIES ENRICH LEARNING

Chemistry Squad members Madeleine Ashcraft and Dick Studley prepare and test experiments.

Many activities provide the opportunity to learn. Extra hours after school spent setting up an optics experiment or arranging chemicals in the back room of 106 may lead members of the Physics and Chemistry Squads to a deeper understanding of a particular scientific concept. By explaining an algebraic process, a student tutor can come to a better realization of some branch of mathematics. Such activities supplement the curriculum by creating a situation where students with initiative can experience personal discovery.

As a student tutor, Barbara Barrett offers assistance to a classmate.

Steve Gordy, Bob Bragdon, and Pete FitzGerald, as members of the Physics Squad, locate equipment necessary for class demonstrations.

Smiles of the Hospitality Squad greet newcomers to our school. Members include Les Hough, Linda Read, Elaine Wittlin, and Mark Smith.

Participation in activities helps students develop poise and accept responsibility by serving their schoolmates. The members of the Lost and Found Squad collect and return lost articles. Boys on the Auditorium Ushers' Squad take charge of regular assemblies, while the Girls' Ushers Squad and Checkroom Squad take care of crowds at the evening functions. The Information and Hospitality Squads strive to make visitors and new students feel welcome at Mount Lebanon. In greeting the public and holding positions of trust, squad members gain self-reliance.

Unclaimed sweaters are just one item frequently stored on the shelves of the Lost and Found by members Pete Nicholson, Janice Williamson, and Chris Emery.

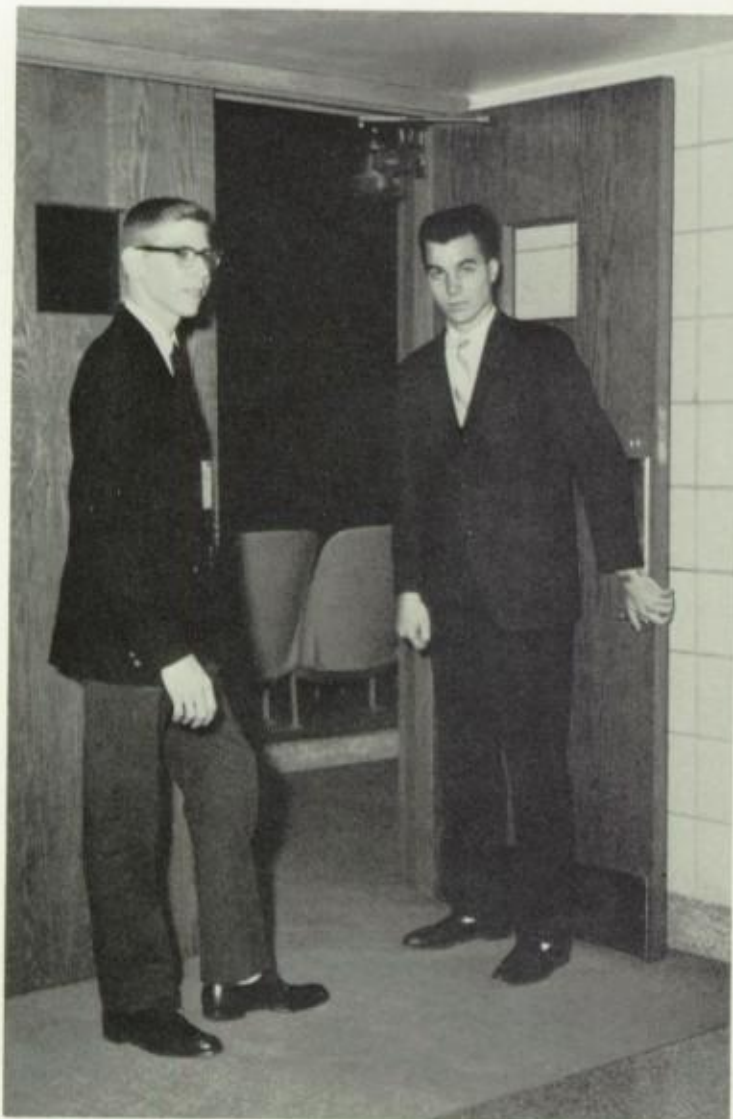

Information Squad members Mary Lou Rodden and Carol Mayberry await visitors to our school.

ACTIVITIES SERVE SCHOOL AND PUBLIC

Paula Kavasch, Marcia Walker, and Debbie Wagner, participants in the Girls' Usher Squad, serve at evening performances in our auditorium.

Marianne Stroup and Zoe Howe of the Checkroom Squad anticipate arrivals to an evening auditorium event.

Ron Segall and Larry Rector, members of the Ushers' Squad, seat students for school assemblies.

Students move to the auditorium to hear a history lecture.

CHEERLEADERS SYMBOLIZE SCHOOL SPIRIT

Cheerleaders spark student spirit at a basketball game.

Mrs. Isler directs the cheerleaders through hours of practice in order to perfect their many cheers.

Cheerleaders rally spectator support and enthusiasm for our teams.

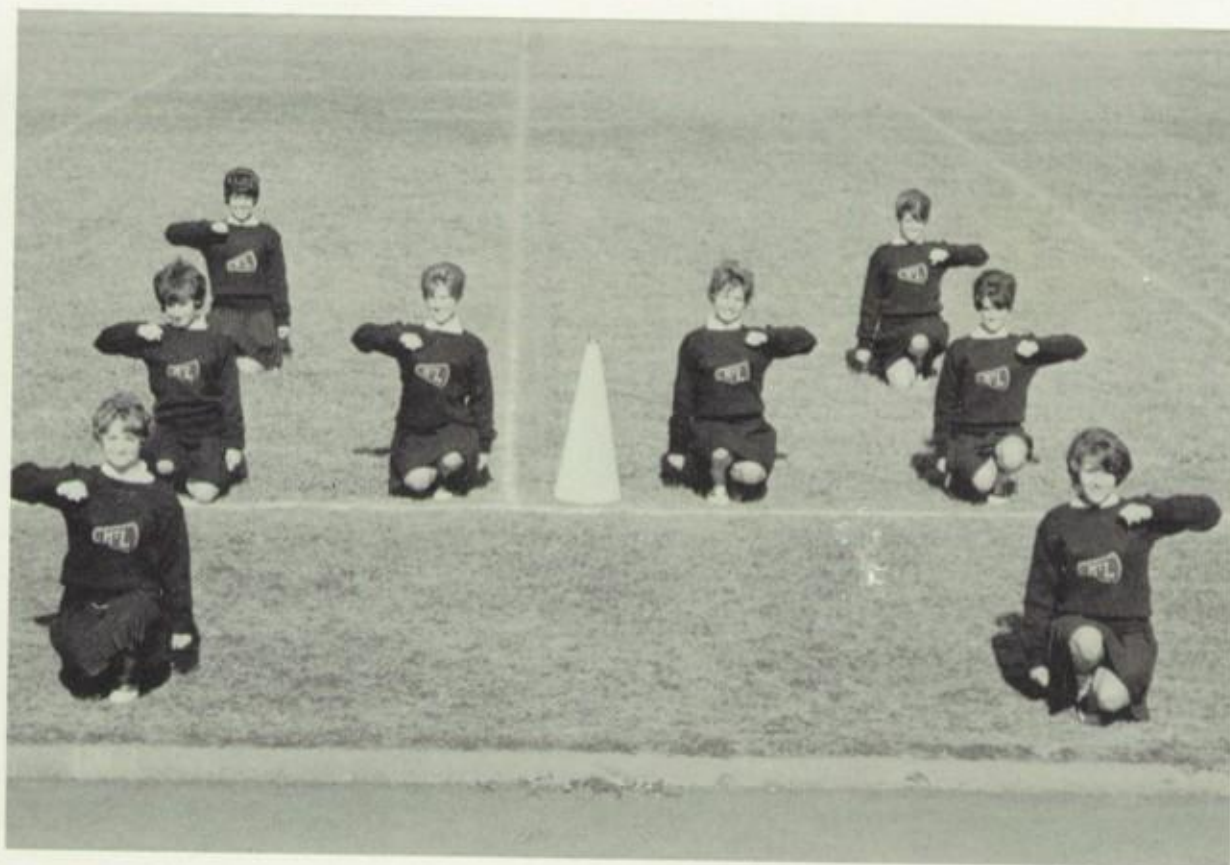

Precision and form mark the '64 Varsity Cheerleading squad.

The cheerleaders build school spirit throughout the year, leading in cheers at the bonfire, the football games, the basketball play-offs, and other athletic events. The student body responds with enthusiasm which intensifies the spirit of the competition and bolsters the team's morale.

Varsity Cheerleaders this year were: Ginger Fleming, Arlene Cenedella, Patti Fitch, Patsy Comstock, Nancy Bonelli, Marion Becker, Sue Ketchum, and Diane Devlin. Missing is Janie Tumpson.

J. V. Cheerleaders, Sally Schneider, Mandy Tomb, Caryl Scarlett, Robin Lohman, Barb Brown, Sue Devlin, Penny Van Buskerk, and Suzy Paulus, create enthusiasm for Junior Varsity teams.

Ginger Fleming helps instill the will to win in the team and fans.

MOUNTIES RETAIN SPIRIT DURING SEASON

The Blue Devil football team met stiff competition in the 1963 season. The team played well despite the season record of two wins, six losses, and one tie. The opener against Peabody was easily won by Mt. Lebanon, by a score of 20-6. In the next seven games, Mt. Lebanon incurred one tie and six defeats, losing to Washington, Wilkinsburg, and Uniontown by close scores. Team spirit never dropped, and the Mounties bounced back to defeat Munhall. Although the squad was handicapped by a lack of experience, the Mounties were determined and spirited throughout the season.

HARRIERS COMPETE SUCCESSFULLY IN '63

The Mt. Lebanon harriers once more showed their skills in long distance running by accumulating a fine record in cross country this fall. The team's hard training and competent direction under Coach Mollenaur paid off when they won four of their five dual meets and placed second in the quadrangle meet with Butler, Ambridge, and North Hills. Highlights of the season were the Mounty's first place in the Mountaineer Invitational, second place in W.P.I.A.L., and third place in the state. The fine running of John Seymour and Phil Barnes placed them third and sixth respectively in the state meet.

VARSIITY BASKETBALL TEAM

ROW 1: M. Herald, J. Minneci, T. Couch, J. Seay, R. Hein. ROW 2: Coach Black, S. Robinson, B. Marsh, D. Sherratt, A. Sharkey, C. Lammert, A. Crooke, P. Dailey, and manager Bill McMillan.

The 1964 basketball team lived up to the expectations of the fans and posted an excellent record of 20-3. For the first time in Mounty history, the Blue Devils, under the coaching of Mr. Richard Black, finished with an undefeated record in fourteen games of section competition. Seniors Andy Sharkey and Mort Herald, and junior Scott Robinson led the team in scoring. Along with Sharkey, Sherratt, Lammert and Marsh provided the team with four rough board men. The accurate shooting of senior Dave Hurst proved to be a large factor in the Mounty attack. Mt. Lebanon exhibited finesse and depth by defeating all of their sectional rivals by eight points or more, the closest contest being against Dormont with the score of 48-40.

By winning the section 4-A title for the fourth year in a row, the Mounties earned the chance to play in the W.P.I.A.L. playoffs. After receiving a first round bye, the Mounties met the formidable New Castle Hurricanes in the quarter-final round of the playoff. After a rugged game, the Blue Devils went down to defeat by the score of 47-42, ending one of the best seasons in recent years.

Free from interference, Herald goes up for an additional field-goal.

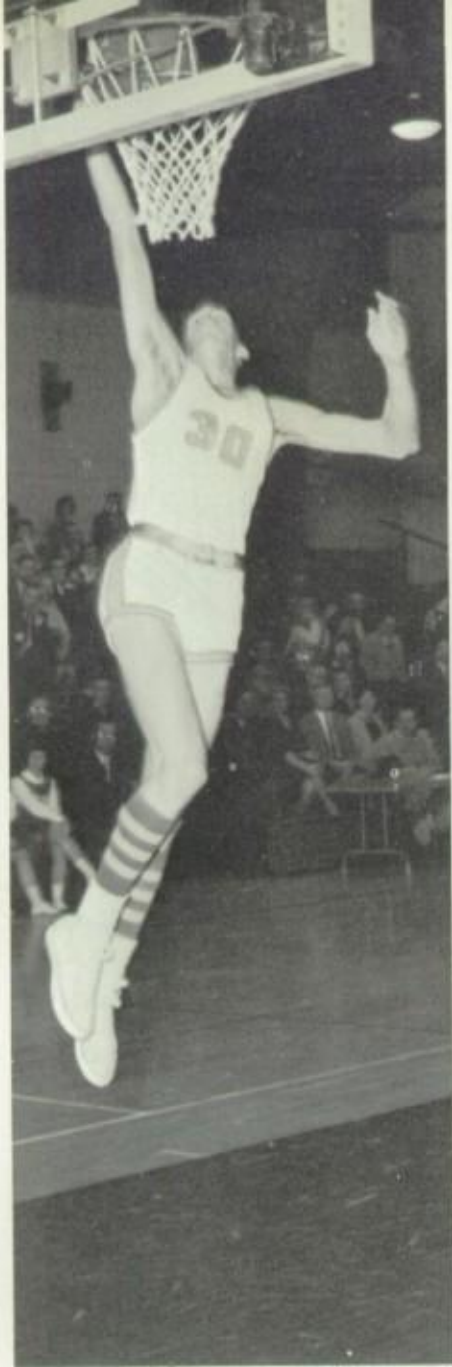

Quick ball handling by Sharkey puts him in good position for a score.

Watching for an open teammate, Herald maneuvers the ball closer to the basket.

Seay outjumps his opponent on a successful lay-up.

Sherratt stretches on his field goal attempt.

Sharkey dribbles in for a quick score.

Both teams watch anxiously as Robinson attempts a free shot.

Robinson scores on a lay-up to give Mt. Lebanon another two points.

Mt. Lebanon's 1964 swimming team produced a season record of fifteen wins and one loss in section competition. The team's success resulted from hard work, depth and overall balance. Post season highlights included winning the W.P.I.A.L. Qualifying Meet and placing in the Regional and P.I.A.A. Championship meets. Especially strong events were the butterfly and backstroke, the 200 yard freestyle and medley relays, and the diving competition. Consistent second and third place finishes also contributed to the Mounties' near-perfect season. Those swimmers setting new school records during the year included junior Shaun McNally in the 100 yard backstroke, sophomore Dave Solomon in the 100 yard butterfly, and freshman Dick Rydze in diving. With this showing, the underclassmen helped to push Mt. Lebanon to victory.

Members of the free style relay team congratulate one another after a crucial victory.

LEBO MATMEN RETAIN SECTION 1 CROWN

After a slow start, the Mounty matmen gained momentum and wrestled to a season's record of 10 wins and 4 losses. Led by team captain Dave Lambillotte and junior Mike Gudiness, the grapplers combined efforts to win ten matches in a row. In the W.P.I.A.L. tournament the Mounties captured team honors in Section 1, defeating the nearest contender by 14 points. The Blue Devils displayed their agility and power by totalling a team score of 43 points. The Junior Varsity matmen also posted a fine season's record, with 10 wins and 2 defeats. With this season the 1964 Mounty wrestling team lived up to the high standards set by past teams.

Jack Evans scores another pin for Mt. Lebanon.

GYMNASTS DEVELOP COORDINATED SKILLS

Co-captains Mike Flick and Chris Miller led Coach Pagnanelli's 1964 gymnastics team in scoring. Mike worked on the parallel bars, the free exercise and the vaulting events, while Chris specialized in the still rings and side horse. Also contributing to the team were Tom Snyder and Bob Griscom on the high bar, and Larry Max and Bill Buehrig on the still rings. Despite their 0 and 6 record, the Mounties responded vigorously to the competition which helped to strengthen the team for future meets.

Captain Chris Miller exhibits his outstanding skill as he executes an Olympic Cross.

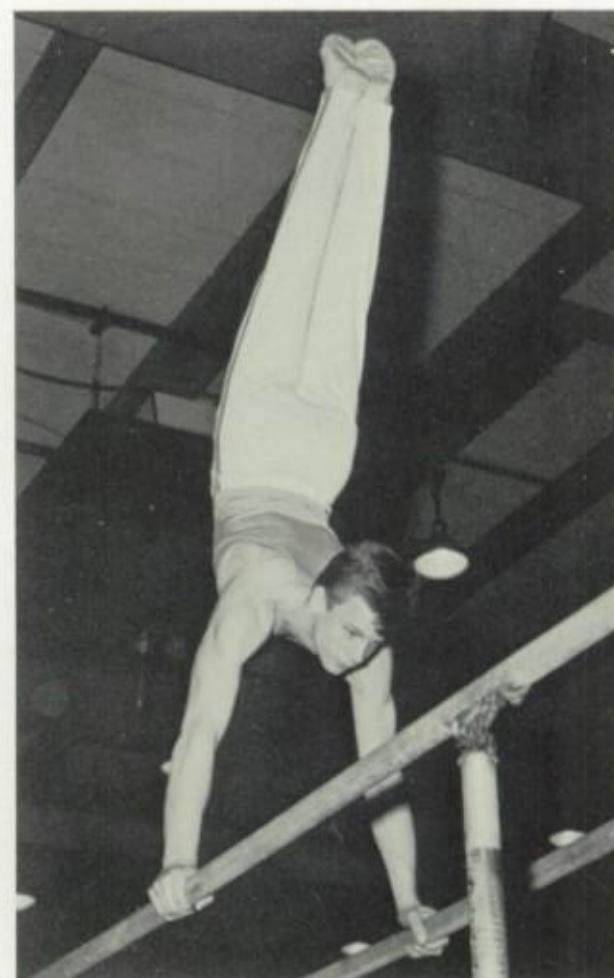

Members of the Gymnastics Team were: ROW 1: H. Hawke, E. Taylor, J. Schweinsberg, P. Ginther, J. White, L. Moore, B. Buehrig. ROW 2: P. Sorg, C. Lefler, C. Miller, B. Ritch, V. Davis, D. Jamison, B. Under Coach Neal's supervision, the '64 Mouny rifle team compiled a season record of 6 wins and 2 defeats. The successful season was the result of the consistent high scoring by the varsity team. State champion, Munhall, a newcomer to Mt. Lebanon's section, provided the only close competition for the riflemen. Those shooters with top scores for this season included Paul Flemm, Sue Gudiness, Sue Coleman, Linda Read, and Bobbie Goodwin.

Sharpshooter Bobbi Goodwin takes careful aim for another perfect score.

Mounty runners set a fast pace to dominate the mile run.

The Mounty track team ran through another successful season in 1963, winning all but one of their nine dual and triangular meets and placing first in three championship tournaments. The single loss to Penn Hills ended a 140 meet winning streak which began in 1944. This series of wins is the longest string of victories in the nation's history of track.

Tom Giordano, described by Mr. Mollenauer as "the best distance runner in our school's history," broke the school mile record twice and received national ranking for his 4:20.6 mile. Dev Lemster brought home the W.P.I.A.L. championship in pole vaulting. A sure winner in 1964 is Dennis Larabee, whose 1963 discus throw of 173' 7" broke another school record.

After ending a record breaking series of wins this year, the Mounty team plans to start a new and longer list of consecutive victories in 1964.

Anderson's powerful take-off helps him reach the 22' mark.

BASEBALL TEAM BREAKS EVEN

During the 1963 season, the Mounty baseball team compiled a record of six wins and six defeats. Coach Clark hopes to build a stronger '64 team around junior Andy Sharkey who, with senior Hal Morgans, led the pitching staff in support of fine team batting and fielding efforts. Despite the inevitable handicap of losing ten valuable seniors, team success in '64 may be insured by a promising crop of sophomores.

MOUNTY NETMEN REACH W.P.I.A.L. FINALS

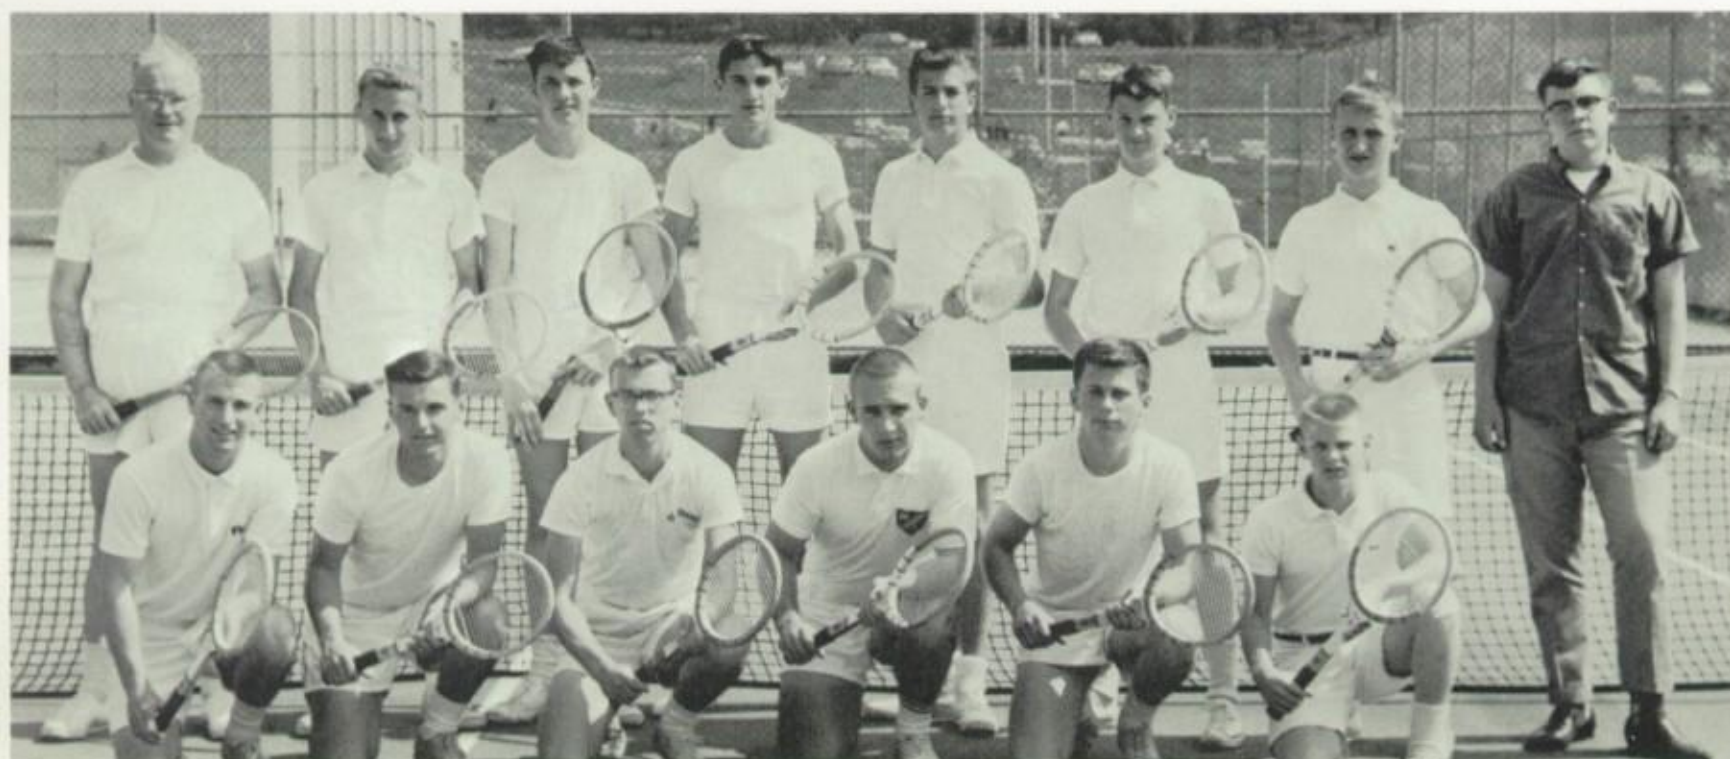

Campbell's face reveals tension as he makes an important shot.

Coached by Mr. Victor M. Doak, the 1963 tennis team turned in its second perfect season. Led by three-time W.P.I.-A.L. champion Jack Waltz, Mt. Lebanon remained undefeated in league competition with a 13-0 record. Senior lettermen Chuck Koepke and John Campbell highlighted the Mounty season. Sophomore lettermen Glenn Carter and Lee Herrington and juniors Martin Dundies and Bill McMillan also contributed to the team's success. This combination of talent produced an outstanding Mounty year.

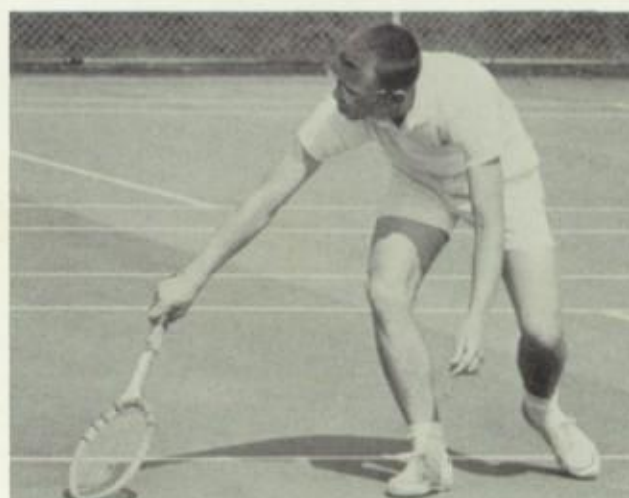

A tight grip brought Mt. Lebanon victory.

A myriad of essential duties keeps the managers of the varsity teams busy. The tabulation of team and individual records takes up a large part of their time. One task of the swimming managers is to announce results at the swimming meets. The basketball and wrestling managers are responsible for maintaining equipment and handling medical supplies. Without these constant efforts put forth by our managers, team sports could not function smoothly.

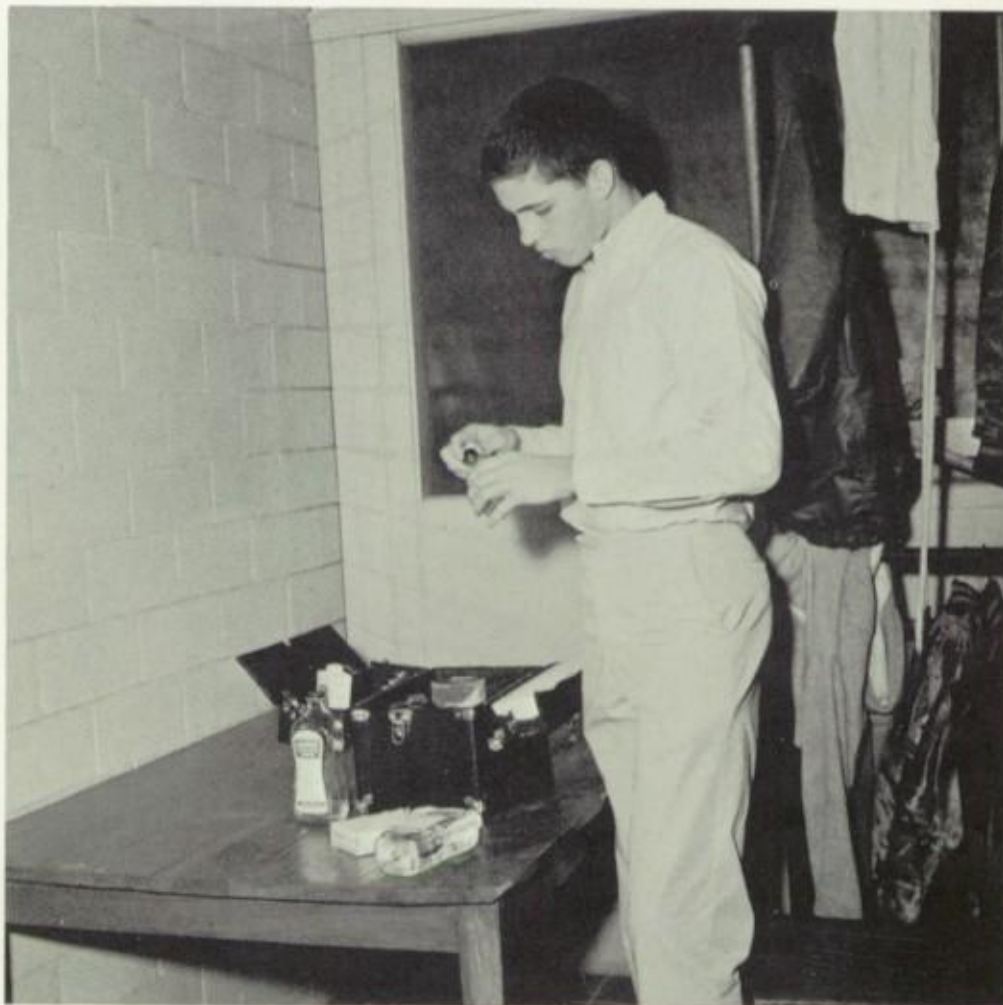

Keeping baseball equipment in top condition is an important duty of team managers Tom Hearn and Russell Steffey.

Bill McMillan and Dave Staplin, basketball managers, tabulate individual and team records.

Ober Tyus and Kip Brunk, swimming team managers, bring out kickboards in preparation for practice.

MANAGERS ORGANIZE TEAM PRACTICE

Wrestling manager Tom Philips keeps his medical kit handy at all games.

Football managers Bruce Rowland, Tom Lamberton and Paul Lawler maintain the equipment and uniforms of the gridgers.

Basketball manager Dave Staplin aids the varsity team during a pre-game warm-up.

SOPHOMORES STRIVE FOR FUTURE SUCCESS

Once they had mastered the polar nomenclature of the stairs and the numerical shorthand of the IBM-made schedules, the versatile sophomores easily adapted to the high school routine. Already initiated into the complexities of high school, the junior class continued to pursue scholastic and extra-curricular achievement in 1964. Exhibiting exuberant class spirit, looking forward to College Boards, solving sets of equations in three unknowns, the juniors acted as contributing members of the student body. Their second year of high school afforded the junior class members further opportunities to form new friendships, and to learn more about themselves, their studies, and their responsibilities.

Cheryl,
You were a nice girl.
What happened? Your bad gets better but your personality gets worse.
Bad luck in the following years
your friend and all
Love
Chris

You were nice, pretty tho 10th grade.
That was a statement everyone made.
But don't let it go to your head.
Or again it won't be said.
Good luck, Jay

I know you've been trying to dodge me I caught you but now I caught you and nothing & best luck & peace.
